The Northland Pines School District and the YMCA Eagle River Branch partnership would like to jointly announce effective March 1, 2014, that the Northland Pines School District will assume responsibility of operating and maintaining a wellness center located in the Northland Pines High School. This new endeavor will be named the “Pines Community Wellness Center” and will no longer be affiliated with the YMCA of the Northwoods. Both entities are collaboratively working together to ensure a smooth transition.

For the past nine years, the partnership between the YMCA and the Northland Pines School District has greatly benefited our community. The YMCA would like to thank the community for all the financial and community support and for allowing the unique opportunity of this relationship.

The Pines Community Wellness Center will build off of the successful foundation which has been established. It is the goal of the NPSD to continue to operate this wellness center for the benefit of the entire community.
